

Tick Tock Coffee Shop

Tick

2 / 12

Light 0–3

Medium 4–7

Dark 8–11

Till

148

Regulars

3 seated

Build

Belt

Well

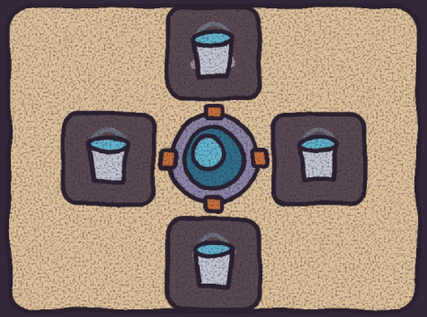

Plot

Kettle

Mixer

Back door

Machines and items

Well

Pulses on tick 0. Four pails leave at once, one from each side.

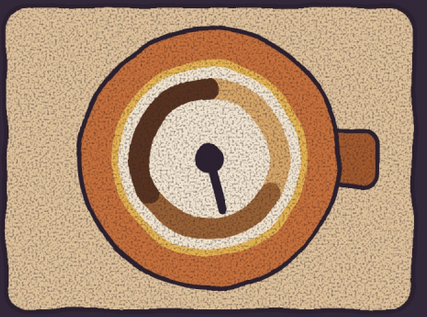

Belt

One tile per tick. The length of the snake is the delay.

Plot

A pail starts a growth cycle. One harvest for each watering.

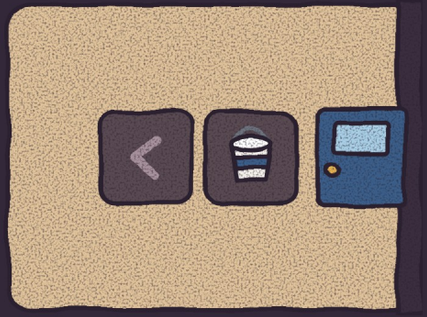

Kettle

The roast is wherever the needle sits when the beans land.

Mixer

Coffee and milk arriving on the same tick make a latte.

Back door

The milkman leaves a pail on tick 7 and charges for each one.

Counter and shelf

Regulars take their cup on their tick. Spare cups wait on the shelf.

Items

Everything rides the belts the same way, one tile per tick.

The regulars

The gargoyle

Dark roast, tick 11

A regular for about four hundred mornings, give or take a century.

The clockmaker

Medium roast, tick 5

Pays in cogs, never coins. Notices when the wall clock is loud.

The baker

Light roast, tick 1

Wants hers at dawn, before the ovens are lit.

The witch

The first latte

Asks you to throw the spent grounds back on the plot. Says it helps.

The traveller

Something with a five-tick bean

Carries a seed the twelve-tick clock can't hold.

The milkman

Back door, tick 7

Leaves a pail every loop and charges for each. Stops when the till is empty.